Horses and Mules Wanted

MONDAY, DECEMBER 19th, 1910

We will be in Montgomery City to buy fat horses and mules from four to forty years old. Bring stock to Pegram's barn. We come to buy, not to visit. We want the best that grow. If you have a good draft horse, a good harness horse, a good saddle horse, or a good pair of any kind that you want to sell, show them to us. We will buy them as high as anybody. We have a place for all the good ones. We want them four years old and up. Will buy an old horse or mule if they are fat and good lookers.

Called for Glory Divine. Among the customers in the drug store conducted by George Eppler, Twentieth and Berks streets, one day last week, was a little girl, who is known to her playmates in that vicinity as "Peggy." As she stood waiting for her turn, it could be noticed that she was repeating something under her breath, in her effort to remember what her mother had sent her to buy.

"Mother wants five cents' worth of glory divine."
"Of what?" said the young clerk who was standing there as if stunned by a hard blow of a baseball bat.
"Glory divine, glory divine," came the reply in a louder voice than when she had made the original request.
"You had better go home and have your mother write it down on paper, little girl," said the clerk, feeling that the girl was too sure to argue with him.

Soon she returned, and handing the note to the clerk, he read: "Five cents' worth of chloride of lime."—Philadelphia Times.

Owes Fame to Childish Friends. Everybody knows that Lewis Carroll, the author of "Alice in Wonderland," was an Oxford don—Rev. C. H. Dodgson—and that he looked more like the high-and-dry old mathematician he was than an entertainer of children. Yet he had certain childish friends, and to these on their country walks he told the "Alice" adventures which he afterwards made into a book. But had it not been for the importunities of the children this great masterpiece would have died. The learned don thought nothing of it. Nevertheless, it will keep his name alive as long as the English language is spoken.

Marketing in Crimson Quilt. "What makes the butcher put both hands in the air? Is he afraid you are going to shoot?"
"No," answered Broncho Bob. "He has gotten over being afraid. He knows I ain't going to shoot as long as he keeps his hands out of reach of the scales while the meat's being weighed."—Washington Star.

Why Looked Up. "Ever been locked up?" demanded counsel.
"I have been," admitted the witness.
"Aha! And what had you been doing to get yourself locked up?"
"I had been doing jury duty."—Pittsburg Post.

IN MEMORIAM.

Fred Watkins died in New Mexico, Thursday Dec. 8th after a lingering illness. He was born near Jonesburg, Mo. March 4th, 1885. Aged 25 years 9 months and 8 days.

He leaves to mourn his death a mother, four sisters, Mrs. Belle Reich, Mrs. O. Huckriede, Minnie and Viola Watkins, two brothers, Jesse and Enoch Watkins and a host of friends and relatives. His father and one sister having preceded him in death.

His remains were brought to his home Sunday and interred in the Pin Oak cemetery Monday after very touching funeral services by Rev. Salzwel of Truxton.

Fred was a very obedient son, a kind and loving brother and friend.

"Death loves a shining mark." He professed faith in the Lord two years previous to his death and was a member of the Methodist Church.

"And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Write, Blessed are they who die in the Lord from henceforth; yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT. Hall of Montgomery Lodge, No. 123, I. O. O. F.

Death has again entered our ranks and removed from our midst our dearly beloved and highly respected brother, P. H. Kemp.

The Lodge has lost a consistent and faithful member; the home a loving and devoted husband and father, and the community an upright, enterprising and loyal citizen. With sorrowful hearts but with a hope that looks far beyond this vale of tears to a bright and happy home, where all is life, beauty and joy, we pay this last tribute of respect to our departed brother.

Resolved, therefore, that this Lodge wear the emblems of mourning and be properly draped for sixty days; that we extend to the bereaved family our sincere sympathy in this their dark hour of affliction, and commend them to Him, who alone can heal the broken heart and comfort the distressed soul.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of the Lodge, and that a copy of the same be sent to the family of our deceased brother, and be furnished the papers of our city for publication.

HENSLEY-LOGAN.

Married, Wednesday, Dec. 14, 1910, at the noon hour, at the elegant country residence of Mrs. Sarah A. Whiteside, near Montgomery, in the presence of a goodly number of relatives and friends, Mr. Seth E. Hensley and Miss Minnie A. Logan, Eld. W. A. Meloan officiated.

They were attended by Mr. Lee Hensley, cousin of the groom, and Miss Clara Logan, sister of the bride. Miss Ellis of New Florence played the wedding march.

Mrs. Wilson of Bowling Green prepared the bridal cake.

The happy young couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful presents.

Mr. Hensley is one of our best young farmers, and a member of one of Montgomery county's oldest and most prominent families. The bride is a member of Mrs. Sarah Whiteside's family, having lived with them since childhood.

Mr. and Mrs. Hensley left that afternoon for a visit to relatives in Audrain county, after which they will return and go to house-keeping on the groom's farm, 3 miles east of Montgomery City.

Their many friends extend congratulations and best wishes for a long, happy and prosperous life. May God bless these young people and always abide in their home.

W. A. M.

Geo. Baumeister, a highly respected citizen, a native of Wurttemberg, Germany, and a member of the Masonic Lodge, passed away peacefully, at the age of 78 years and 14 days, at his home here Tuesday morning at nine o'clock, Nov. 29, 1910. Funeral services were held at the grave by the order of which he was a member. His remains were laid to rest in the Loutre Island cemetery, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. His wife and six children mourn the departure of their beloved husband and father, two sons, Geo. W. of New Mexico, Walter, at home, and four daughters, Mrs. Ben Price of McKittick, Mrs. Henry Lionberger and Miss Clara of Colorado, Mrs. Joe Wieser of this place. Our sincere sympathy is extended to the grief stricken family.—High Hall Enterprise.

Your Lost Chances.

How many business chances have you ALREADY lost for lack of a little capital? How many more are you going to lose in the future for the same reason?

It is said that money makes money. To a great extent that is true. Money is always a great help to a safe, conservative man in making money. Your judgment may be good and you may have many opportunities to make investments, but if you have no capital to back your good judgment, you are forced to let it alone. A part saved might have enabled you to borrow the remainder.

Will you continue to cripple yourself by lack of a surplus, or will you begin today to save your money and get in shape to take advantage of the next good opportunity that knocks at your door? We respectfully solicit your business.
